New Planning Options under the Toxics Use Reduction Act (TURA)

Tuesday, December 11, 2007

9:00 – 11:00 A.M.

Worcester Regional Chamber of Commerce
Worcester, Massachusetts

The Central Massachusetts Business Environmental Network (CMBEN) is pleased to invite you to a presentation on New Planning Options under the Toxics Use Reduction Act (TURA). In 2006, the Toxics Use Reduction Act (TURA) was revised to provide new planning alternatives to facilities that have done toxics use reduction (TUR) planning in the past. Beginning in 2008, facilities now may be able to implement an environmental management system or a resource conservation plan to reduce use of energy, water, materials found in solid waste, or other natural assets to satisfy their TUR planning requirement.

Mr. John Fischer, Branch Chief of Waste and Toxics Planning at the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection, will speak about what these new planning options mean to facilities covered under TURA as well as to toxics use reduction planners that work with facilities.
